

Selecting an Outdoor Lighting Company

Your investment in an exterior lighting system should only be made once. The following is a tip that will help you make an informed decision when selecting an exterior lighting company.

3. WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THE COMPANY?

Did you receive literature in the mail? Are you familiar with their work and reputation?

Friends, neighbors and business associates are good sources for a landscape lighting company referral. Ask them for the name of their lighting company if they are happy with the lighting effect, quality of the lighting equipment and overall professionalism of the company they selected. The internet also provides an excellent source for further research as lighting company web sites often include information such as their company history and examples of their work.
